Fulvic 400X helps your body function better at the cellular level and improves the absorption of all other supplements boosting their effectiveness. ***

Electrolyte Hydration

Physical activity and high temperatures can quickly deplete us of essential electrolytes, but common sugary sports drinks do little to help us recover.

Fulvic 400X provides robust electrolyte support and with the help of fulvic, quickly gets those important minerals into our cells where they are needed most. *

Nutrient Absorption

Damaged GI tracts and low-energy cells can limit our ability to get nutrients where they're needed. As a result, our bodies simply don't function the way they should.

Fulvic molecules can recharge our cells allowing them to easily take in the nutrients they need. Plus, fulvic molecules can bind with nutrients in our GI tracts and help carry them to cells throughout our bodies. *

Oxidative Stress

All day long our cells are bombarded by free radicals. Also known as oxidative stress, this process can damage cells leading to wide-spread inflammation and premature aging.

Fulvic 400X has high antioxidant activity that can help neutralize these free radicals and limit their ability to damage our cells. *

Detoxification

As our cells go about their daily tasks, they naturally create toxic byproducts. Healthy cells easily release these toxins so they can be removed from our bodies. Unfortunately, due to various causes, our cells may not be able to release these toxins.

Fulvic 400X can help our cells open the doors and clear out all the junk that's slowing them down. *
